A Londoner's Story in Chicago.
The many variations in the pronunciation of the name Goethe street cause some queer misunderstandings and indications. A policeman who was standing on the corner of Wells street and Chicago avenue was asked if he knew where a man lived.

"Sure, an he's after livin on Goatee street," he replied.
"Where?"
"Goatee street."

"How do you spell it?"
"Pawly. I s'pose like g-o-a-t-y, same as a goat."

But the man was still in the dark, so he stepped into a corner drug store and asked the question he had put to the policeman.
"Mr. J—lives on Goaty street."
"Where is that place?"
"Just eleven blocks north of here."

A Wells street man soon covered the eleven blocks and Goethe street was reached. After the interview had been attended to a number of inquiries were made of various persons in regard to the name of the street, chiefing at least a dozen different pronunciations.—Chicago Mail.

It Was Fatal.
"The afraid of restaurants and soda fountains," she had said in the first of their acquaintance, and it led him to order lunch at once, for he felt that he could afford to wed such a girl.

But he was disappointed. She steered him right into the light refreshment parlor, and the corner drug store absorb all his nickels and the small-penned-down cottage home vanished into thin air.

One day, grieved to desperation by the disappearance of his last nickel, he said to her:

"I thought you told me you were afraid of summer restaurants and soda palaces?"
"I am," she said sweetly; "don't ice cream whenever I come near one!"

Guests Lost a Marquee.

A singular scene, resulting in the destruction by a crowd of 1,000 people of a marquee and the looting of provisions, took place at Ramsey, Huntingdonshire, on Thursday evening. A grand fête had been arranged by Lord de Ramsey to celebrate the return of the Hon. Ailewyn Gillows, M. P., for North Hants. About 4,000 persons had been invited, in relays of 1,000 at a time, to a tea, which was arranged in a marquee in the grounds.

A shower of rain made the crowd rush for shelter to the marquee, which was already full. A scene of indescribable confusion ensued. The crowd made an attack upon the provisions, waiters were knocked down and a clean sweep made of the tables, much of the crochery being destroyed. The caterer cutting off the supplies, the mob proceeded to the store and wrecked it, demolishing the provisions. A body of police attempted to disperse the rioters, but only partially succeeded. Lord and Lady de Ramsey witnessed the scene from the balcony of the abbey.—London News.

SILVER LEGISLATION.

The Executive Committee of the New York Free Coinage League has appointed a committee of five to visit Washington as soon as Congress convenes and advocate the passage of a bill to increase the purchase of silver bullion from 4,500,000 ounces to 8,000,000 ounces per month. The League deems this necessary, unless a free coinage bill can be passed, to prevent a fall in the prices of products and to relieve the people from the evils of a contracted currency.

There is now pending in the Senate a bill introduced by John Sherman of Ohio to repeal the present bullion purchase act, which became a law in July, 1890. Should this bill pass, and Sherman will do all in his power to get it through the Senate, the Government will purchase no silver bullion whatever as the Act of 1890 repealed the standard dollar Act of 1878. It is not probable that a bill which passed the Stewart free coinage bill last Summer will assent to the Sherman bill unless a bill more favorable to silver becomes a law.

It is possible that the House of Representatives may have learned from the recent election that the people are determined to have more favorable legislation for silver than Congress has been disposed to enact and will pass the Stewart bill now on the calendar before the holiday recess. That would be much better than a bill to increase the purchase of silver bullion, as it would have money plenteous without expense to the Government. It does not seem to be good policy for the Government to buy bullion to stock up in the Treasury vaults, and have the mint idle. Today very little silver is being coined because the Act of 1890 does not compel the coinage of silver dollar. It leaves the matter of silver coinage to the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that functionary decides to redeem in gold the Treasury notes issued for the purchase of silver bullion. This enables the syndicate which sells bullion to the Government to have the Treasury notes which they receive in payment redeemed in gold so that very little is added to the volume of money in the country by the Act of 1890. What the people want is the right to take gold or silver bullion to the mints of the United States and have the metals coined into money which will be legal tender for all debts, public and private. That will give silver a fixed value and end all talk about the seventy-cent dollar. It will not require the Government to expend a dollar for the purchase of silver, but simply do what its founders decreed it should do and what it did do from the establishment of the mint in 1791 up to the time of the passage of the infamous demonetization Act of 1873, when European bondholders conspired to make money scarce by reducing the money of ultimate redemption fully one-half.

MORE POPULIST ALLIES.

The national assembly of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association closed its labors at Champaign, Ill., Saturday by adopting resolutions of faith in the future greatness of the order and calling upon members to assist in reviving the work; demanding free and unlimited coinage of silver and an increased circulating medium; and recommending the establishment of post savings banks; that Congress should prohibit dealings in futures of agricultural and mechanical productions and the adulteration of foods and medicines; demand an equitable system of graduated tax on incomes and favoring the election of United States Senators by the people.

Massachusetts gave its electoral vote to Harrison and at the same time elected Russell, who is a Democrat, Governor of the State. The Republicans demanded a recount of the gubernatorial vote and the demand was granted. It resulted in increasing Russell's majority over a thousand votes, proving that they understood the "counting out" process as well as in Massachusetts as they do in San Francisco.

Some Eastern papers are directing the attention of the Democratic leaders to the plank in the Chicago platform which reads: "We declare it the fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only."

In the next House of Representatives it is estimated the Democrats will have 218, Republicans 128 and Populists 8, giving a Democratic majority of 82. Of the four Territories, Arizona, New Mexico and Utah elected Democratic Delegates and Oklahoma a Republican Delegate.

General Ransom, Commissioner of Penitentiaries, has submitted his estimates to the Treasury Department. His estimates for the appropriations for the fiscal year of 1893 are $165,000,000, and his estimates for the deficiency in the appropriations for the fiscal year of 1893, $10,508,621.

The Democrats claim the electoral vote of California for Cleveland by a plurality of 400. The official count may change the result, though the chances of success are decidedly in favor of the Democrats.

Miss Ella L. Knowles was elected Attorney General of Montana on the Populist ticket. She had two contestants against her—Haskell (R-P) and Day (Dem.). She leads them both by 300 votes.

Sustains the indictment.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Matters of Interest From Home and Abroad.

[The wires both east and west, are in bad shape, and in consequence the telegraphic report is very short. It was with greatest difficulty that any report at all was obtainable.]

The Silver Question in Europe
LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Post discussing the currency question at Brussels, complains that Senator Allison is a representative merely of the Silver party in the United States, therefore but little can be hoped for from the conference, as there will be no chance to discuss any practical arrangement to utilize silver as subsidiary currency.

VIENNA, Nov. 28.—A correspondent of the Chronicle says: The American proposals at the Brussels monetary conference, being a repetition of the bimetallic programme of 1878 and '81, have caused disappointment here, as they fail to supply a basis for further discussion without raising false hopes in the silver market.

Lothchild's proposals were also regarded with anxiety. The Times Brussels correspondent says the first debate of the conference justifies the belief that it will yield only negative results, that so far the Americans have found support of only the Dutch delegates, all other holding a strict reserve, especially those from Germany and Austria.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 28.—The International Monetary Conference will meet again today. The latest report regarding the conference delay in issuing to the delegates the proposals of Alfred De Rothschild one of the representatives of great Britain, is that he is awaiting last night that the proposals be modified according to the suggestions of Montefiore Levy, President of the Conference, and other members.

It reported that under the scheme to be formulated by Rothschild each Government represented in the Conference be associated in the purchase of silver to the minimum amount of 5,000,000 pounds sterling, and is to take fixed as a proposition this amount at a limit of 43 pence per ounce, the purchases to be made direct by the treasuries of the various countries or through the agency of financial institutions. It is expected that the British delegates will support this plan in the interest of the Indian currency.

The Danish delegate, who is a monometallist, will propose the coinage of silver five shillings, four shillings or dollar pieces, rated to gold according to the price of silver the year previous to the adoption of the international agreement, with seigniorage of ten per cent. He will also propose the appointment of a permanent international commission to fix the initial prices. Should the price of silver fall to five per cent below the coinage ratio the commission will have the authority to fix the ratio and order recoinage of the pieces, these coins to be legal tender internationally, and the banks to keep them as a reserve against notes, and have the right to demand gold in exchange for them at any time from the government issuing the particular coin held. This scheme will be the subject of lively discussion between the delegates, but will not be formally proposed until the Rothschild proposals are debated.

The Rothschild propositions were submitted to the conference this afternoon. They cover 11 printed octavo pages. Rothschild argues at great length that bimetalism in Great Britain is absolutely impossible, and suggests that the question arises whether or not it is possible to extend the use of silver generally and by this means assist in checking its further fall in value. Rothschild said he did not claim his proposals would prove the final solution of the question, but that they would prove palliative. The summing up of his proposals are that America continue her purchases of silver, and that the European powers buy an amount equal to 5,000,000 pounds sterling a year for five years at 43 d. If silver should rise above that price the purchase to be immediately suspended.

It is expected that the proposals will be referred to a committee. The Portuguese delegation has been instructed by their government to act harmoniously with the British representatives.

It is stated that Rothschild proposes to raise the legal tender of silver in England from two pounds to five. Great importance attaches to the proposal, as it means that English five-pound notes be payable in silver.

Costello-Gregains Prize Fight.
CONY ISLAND, Nov. 28.—The attendance at the athletic contest of the Cony Island Athletic Club to-night was remarkably slim. The entertainment opened with a ten-round contest between Danny McBride and Con. Donovan. McBride knocked his opponent out in the 5th round and won the prize of $400. Time, 17 minutes.

The event of the evening, the contest between Costello of Buffalo and Gregains of San Francisco, came next. Gregains' seconds were Martin Murphy of San Francisco, John Murphy of Boston. Howry Hodgkins of Boston and Mike Conroy of Boston. Costello's seconds were Billy Delaney, Choyoski and Jimmy Carroll. Jack Sheehan was time keeper. The men weighed in at 153 pounds, and looked perfection.

In the first round both men sparred cautiously, Gregains landing lightly on the point of the jaw with a light return. In the second Costello landed his left on Gregains' mouth, and a moment after got first blood with a straight left on the nose. The third and fourth saw some light exchanges.

In the fifth Costello landed a right and left on Gregains' jaw and stomach, and a moment later hit him again over the heart and on the jaw, receiving in return a blow on the stomach.

In the sixth Costello led with a left on the stomach, and got a stiff-hand jab in the mouth. Some severe body blows were struck before the round closed.

In the seventh there were numerous blows exchanged, and a left hand swing on Costello's jaw which caused him to fall in his corner. The round was finished with both men still fresh.

In the eighth not much was done. In the ninth there was considerable hard fighting. Costello landed on the neck and got a heavy one on the stomach. He landed successfully twice on Gregains' jaw, then led on the stomach and landed again on the head. Gregains looked rather the worse punished.

In the tenth round Gregains landed a terrific left hander on Costello's jaw, and a moment later Costello got a stomach blow. Both then led with their lefts, coming together with a crash, Costello landing on the chest and Gregains on the stomach. The eleventh was about the same.

In the twelfth Gregains rushed and accidentally pushed Costello over.

In the thirteenth and fourteenth a number of hard blows were exchanged, but nothing serious.

In the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth both men were showing great generalship, and while many blows were struck there was no apparent result.

In the eighteenth Costello got a left hander on the month that sent him against the ropes, and before the close of the round Gregains hit him a blow in the stomach that made him grunt.

In the nineteenth, after a short interchange, Costello's ear was cut. Gregains landed a left on the jaw and drove Costello against the ropes. Costello landed heavily on Gregains' stomach.

From the nineteenth to the twenty-fourth not much was done by either, but in the latter round Gregains had decidedly the best of it landing blows that would have finished an ordinary man.

At 9:30 A. M. the fight was not finished and it looked like an all night fight.

[A "30" was received, the last of the JOURNAL's night report, the men were still fighting, but the telegraph wires were working so badly, no further news was obtainable.—EDITOR.]

The Alabama Governorship

MONTGOMERY (Ala.), Nov. 28.—There is going to be a big fight over the Governorship. Kolb declares that he was elected by 45,000 majority, but was counted out. Jones, on the other hand, says there is not the least foundation for Kolb's charges.

There is no law for contest by State officers in this State, and Kolb's chances will hang on the passage of a law now before the State Legislature.

THE PRECIOUS METALS.

Steady Annual Increase of the Production of Gold.

Year by year the gold production of the world is increasing, and the results for 1891 were the largest on record. In round numbers the production for the last five years was as follows: 1887, 5,087,000 ounces; 1888, 5,251,000 ounces; 1889, 5,411,000 ounces; 1890, 5,586,000 ounces; and 1891, 6,033,000 ounces. For the first time in a long time there was a slight setback in the production of gold in 1890. A noticeable feature of recent years has been the development of the W. water-river gold fields. The production of these fields has been as follows: 1887, 31,307 ounces; 1888, 230,917 ounces; 1889, 379,733 ounces; 1890, 494,801 ounces; and 1891, 723,213 ounces. Aiding in 1890 the output of other Transvaal gold fields, which amounted to about 107,000 ounces, the total production of the Transvaal for 1891 reaches 536,250 ounces. For the current year it is expected that the production will quite reach 1,250,000 ounces. In 1888 the Transvaal only produced 4 1/2 percent of the world's yield, but in 1890 the production had risen to 13.8 percent and this year it is tolerably certain to reach 21 percent.

The following was the production in 1890 for the countries named: United States, about 1,586,500 ounces; Australia, 1,469,200; and Russia, 1,090,000. As the return for these countries has not altered to any large extent the Transvaal will probably take the third place for the current year, and very likely the second place in 1893. Mining in the Transvaal has not yet reached its culminating point, as new mines are being constantly opened and old ones still further developed.

Gold Export and What it Indicates.

Editorial Journal.—Henry Villard in an interview attributes the export of gold so early in the season to the silver-bullion purchase law. The San Francisco Chronicle lays it to the settlement in part of the balance of trade, which for the past three months has been more than $20,000,000 against us. While Harter, the great Democratic Congressman and gold-bug financier from Ohio says it is because Europe is selling American securities on account of their being afraid that the United States might adopt the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Harter offers as a remedy that we repeal all silver legislation, adopt the gold standard and if we need more gold all we have to do is to buy it from Europe with more bonds, his idea being that the only way we can maintain our credit abroad is to let the Rothschilds dictate our financial policy and keep exchanging bonds for gold. In this way we can maintain a gold standard and at the same time maintain our credit with the Rothschilds and their agents in New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

The people of the United States are already in the same fix with the European bondholders as the farmers of Kansas are with the goldbugs who hold the mortgage on their homes. On account of Kansas voting at the last election for the free coinage of silver and financial reform, these goldbugs have sent out notices to the farmers of Kansas that they will foreclose their mortgages as fast as they become due. As the farmers of Kansas owe more than $200 per capita on their mortgages, and as they possess less than $5 per capita of legal tender, it can be readily seen about how much blood these goldbugs can squeeze out of the territory. The goldbugs hope that by enjoining the farmers of Kansas to inhibit the balance of the mortgagee-owned farms of the West and South as that hereafter they will vote the goldbug ticket, and will pile up more interesting borrowing securities for the goldbug industry of the North.

But the jug of the goldbugs is about over. The Republican party is annihilated. There will be no more sham tariff battles, for the People's party has come to stay, and will force the issue of the free coinage of silver and financial reform in the next campaign. In the meantime let the goldbugs try and intimidate the voters by their threats of foreclosure. It will do the People's party no harm. FARMER.

SCHILLING'S MINSTRELS.

What the Salt Lake Herald Says of the Company.

On last E. Schilling's minstrels will be the attraction of McKissick's Opera House to-morrow (Wednesday) night. The minstrels played at Salt Lake City several nights last week and the Herald of Nov. 23d has the following relative to the entertainment:

The Schilling's minstrels was the attraction at the theatre last night. The audience was only limited by the capacity of the house, and the company, it is safe to say, merited the compliment of so large an audience. The musical numbers were full of harmony and evoked frequent applause.

The programme opened with a chorus from the "Paras of Perseance." In the musical numbers that followed, Mr. J. P. Morgan especially pleased the audience with two solos, "I'm a Pirate King" and "Speak to Me." Mr. Daly's voice was very pleasing in the chorus and in the quartette.

The representation of the ancient gladiatorial contests by the Lord & Brothers was very good indeed. These gentlemen are marvellous of strength and agility.

The same company will occupy the Opera House to-morrow night.

Death of Engineer Ben Church.

Benjamin Alvin Church was born in St. Auburn, Vermont, October 17, 1837. He came to Nevada in November, 1875, and about five years later began firing an engine on the Truckee Division of the C. P. R. R. and made Wadsworth his home. He was promoted to the position of engineer in 1886, and soon afterward joined Truckee Division No. 158 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He joined the Independent Order of Odd Fellows some 30 years ago, and at the time of his death, which occurred yesterday morning was a member of Wadsworth Lodge No. 33, I. O. O. F., under whose auspices he will be buried. The funeral will take place from his residence at 2 p. m. Monday, in order to give a brother who resides in Ashland time to reach here.

Ben Church's figure was a familiar one along the line of the railroad, and though his character was a compound of peculiarities, he had a great many warm friends. The widow and orphan have the sympathy of the community in their affliction. —Wadsworth Dispatch.

It Was Hattie H. Fellows Who Died on the Train.

The coroner held an autopsy yesterday on the case of the young woman whose body was found in the toilet-room of a Southern Pacific passenger coach on Friday evening. The examination showed that death resulted from congestion of the lungs and epilepsy. No inquest will be held.

The body of the unfortunate girl, who was known in San Jose as Hattie Grant, was claimed yesterday morning by a sister. The name of the deceased was Hattie Roussin Fellows, not Grant. She was 20 years of age, and was born in Reno, Nev. For a time the deceased lived in this city at 118 Geary street.—Sunday's San Francisco Chronicle.

Another Change in Prices.

Another change has been made in the prices at the skating rink. Gentlemen hereafter will be charged 25 cents for admission and the privilege of skating. Ladies will be admitted free, but will be charged 25 cents for skating, whether using their own skates or those belonging to the rink. This change has been made at the request of several patrons, and will be final. Mr. Blithen will have the rink lighted by electricity this evening.

Died of Pneumonia.

John Herberth, the owner of a small ranch near Verdi, died Sunday afternoon of pneumonia at the Palace Hotel in this city. Mr. Herberth contracted a severe cold some time since which he neglected to attend to and when he was brought here for treatment last week his case had gone too far to be cured. He will be buried at 2 p. m. from Sanders' undertaking rooms on Virginia street.

A Reverend Advocate of Bimetallism.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Bimetallism has found an advocate in Archbishop Walsh of Dublin. In the course of an interview the Archbishop declared the adoption of bimetallism to be a matter of imperative necessity to save Irish tenants from inevitable ruin. It was disheartening, the Archbishop added, to find that no interest will be taken in the question by the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party. If things go on as they are, even excellent land purchase schemes may become, before many years, a source of widespread disaster to the purchasers under it. According to the Archbishop's views, foreign competition is not at all the sole cause of the ruinous fall in the prices of agricultural products. The main cause, he believes, is the continuous rise in the value of gold. What a prospect it is, he added, for Irish tenants whose rents are fixed for 15 years, or for tenants with annual purchase payments extending over 49 years, that gold has risen 35 per cent in value within the last 15 years and must continue to appreciate it if the present system is maintained. The Archbishop concluded by expressing the hope that the conference at Brussels would succeed in solving the monetary problem.
